

Industry Track – Invited Talks

Industrial practitioners are invited to submit talk proposals to the Industry Talk Track of ICGSE 2019.

This track seeks presentations/discussions about significant real-world issues related to global software engineering (GSE).

We look for practical solutions that have helped to solve significant issues, experience with addressing issues and new challenges faced by industry practitioners that require help.

We expect some practical solutions to be presented along with interesting problems but that is not mandatory.

Presenting interesting problems as challenges to the research community is also welcome.

The industry track of the conference aims to bring together the leading industry and academia practitioners to share their insights, expertise and experiences. We invite original papers describing case studies, experiences and applied research in the areas mentioned above for this track.

The track will consist of three invited talks, a panel discussion and three papers accepted from the submissions.

The talks will be of 25 minutes each.
