In order to express a single scene of a story in a three dimensional way, Japanese artist and architect Yusuke Oono created this imaginative series of 360 degree books. Using 40 pages, Oono assembles scenes from stories like The Jungle Book and Snow White with elaborate layers of silhouettes cut from paper.

Oono designed each 360Book digitally page by page before they are cut out with a laser cutter and bound together. When fully opened, a circular fan of pages forms allowing every illustration to be visible at one time.
